9 Current trends, trading and prospects

Glencore

On 9 May 2012 Glencore released its interim management statement for the first quarter of 2012. Since this date, concerns in respect of Eurozone sovereign debt have intensified and global economic growth expectations have also decreased. Both factors have led to a deterioration in overall financial market sentiment with a consequential reduction in commodity prices. The S&P GSCI Industrial Metals Index fell 17 per cent. from 470 to 390 based on average commodity prices in the first half of 2011 compared with the same period in 2012 tempering the performance of Glencore's industrial assets. Glencore's marketing operations meanwhile continue to perform well with physical demand remaining generally healthy. In addition, Glencore continues to be encouraged by its progress in developing the growth projects within its industrial asset base. Glencore's growth is brownfield with attendant short lead times and low levels of capital intensity.

Despite the continued global economic uncertainty and the resultant negative sentiment, it remains Glencore's view that commodity inventories are generally low, both on exchanges and within supply chains. Glencore continues to see strong underlying long-term fundamentals for the major commodities that would be produced and marketed by the Combined Group.

Glencore expects to announce its half-year results (for the 6 months ended 30 June 2012) on 21 August 2012.

Xstrata

On 7 August 2012 Xstrata published its half-year results (for the 6 months ended 30 June 2012).

Forward looking statements

This document contains statements which are, or may be deemed to be, “forward looking statements” which are prospective in nature. All statements other than statements of historical fact are forward looking statements. They are based on current expectations and projections about future events, and are therefore subject to risks and uncertainties which could cause actual results to differ materially from the future results expressed or implied by the forward looking statements. Often, but not always, forward looking statements can be identified by the use of forward looking words such as “plans”, “expects”, “is expected”, “is subject to”, “budget”, “scheduled”, “estimates”, “forecasts”, “intends”, “anticipates”, “believes”, “targets”, “aims”, “projects” or words or terms of similar substance or the negative thereof, as well as variations of such words and phrases or statements that certain actions, events or results “may”, “could”, “should”, “would”, “might” or “will” be taken, occur or be achieved. Such statements are qualified in their entirety by the inherent risks and uncertainties surrounding future expectations. Forward looking statements include statements relating to the following: (i) future capital expenditures, expenses, revenues, earnings, synergies, economic performance, indebtedness, financial condition, dividend policy, losses and future prospects; (ii) business and management strategies and the expansion and growth of Glencore’s or Xstrata’s operations and potential synergies resulting from the Merger; and (iii) the effects of global economic conditions on Glencore’s or Xstrata’s business.

Such forward looking statements involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties that could significantly affect expected results and are based on certain key assumptions. Many factors may cause the actual results, performance or achievements of Glencore, Xstrata or the Combined Group to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward looking statements. Important factors that could cause actual results, performance or achievements of Glencore, Xstrata or the Combined Group to differ materially from the expectations of Glencore, Xstrata or the Combined Group, as applicable, include, among other things, general business and economic conditions globally, commodity price volatility, industry trends, competition, changes in government and other regulations, including in relation to the environment, health and safety and taxation, labour relations and work stoppages, changes in political and economic stability, disruptions in business operations due to reorganisation activities (whether or not Glencore combines with Xstrata), interest rate and currency fluctuations, the failure to satisfy any conditions for the Merger on a timely basis or at all, the failure to satisfy the conditions of the Merger when implemented (including approvals or clearances from regulatory and other agencies and bodies) on a timely basis or at all, the failure of Glencore to combine with Xstrata on a timely basis or at all, the inability of the Combined Group to realise successfully any anticipated synergy benefits, the inability of the Combined Group to integrate successfully Glencore’s and Xstrata’s operations and programmes, or the Combined Group incurring and/or experiencing unanticipated costs and/or delays or difficulties relating to the Merger, in each case when the Merger becomes Effective. Such forward looking statements should therefore be construed in light of such factors.

Neither Glencore nor any of its associates or directors, officers or advisers provides any representation, assurance or guarantee that the occurrence of the events expressed or implied in any forward looking statements in this document will actually occur. These forward looking statements speak only as at the date of this document.

Investors should specifically consider the factors identified in this document and the Original Prospectus, as supplemented by the First Supplementary Prospectus, which could cause actual results to differ before making an investment decision. Such risks, uncertainties and other factors are set out more fully in the section of the Original Prospectus headed “Risk Factors”. To the extent required by the Listing Rules, the Prospectus Rules and the Disclosure and Transparency Rules of the FSA, the London Stock Exchange, the Securities and Futures Commission of Hong Kong, the Hong Kong Stock Exchange or applicable law, Glencore will update or revise the information in this document. Otherwise, Glencore expressly disclaims any obligations or undertakings to release publicly any updates or revisions to any forward looking statements contained in this document to reflect any change in the expectations of Glencore, Xstrata or the Combined Group with regard thereto or any change in events, conditions or circumstances on which any such statement is based.

No statement in this document is intended to constitute a profit forecast or profit estimate for any period, nor should any statement be interpreted to mean that earnings or earnings per share will necessarily be greater or lesser than those for the relevant preceding financial periods for either Glencore or Xstrata as appropriate.

2 Share capital

The issued and fully paid share capital of the Company immediately following completion of the Merger is expected to be as follows (assuming (a) that the Xstrata Employee Benefit Trust will be issued with new Xstrata Shares such that it holds sufficient Xstrata Shares at the Scheme Record Time to satisfy (i) all share options outstanding under the Xstrata Shares Schemes and (ii) the maximum retention share awards that could be granted under the New Xstrata 2012 Plan, (b) vesting of all share awards held under the Xstrata Share Schemes and such Xstrata Shares being acquired by Glencore, and (c) none of the outstanding Glencore Convertible Bonds are converted):

Class of shares	Nominal Value	Number	Amount
Glencore Shares	US$0.01	12,650,465,681	US$126,504,656.81

As set out in paragraph 3.6(b) of Part XI (Additional Information) of the Original Prospectus, Resolution 1(b) proposed at the Glencore General Meeting, if passed, would give the Directors the authority to allot up to an aggregate nominal amount of US$56,603,171 (the “Merger Allotment Authority Amount”).

As described in the First Supplementary Prospectus, in connection with the amendments to the retention award element of the Management Incentive Arrangements, it is proposed that the maximum number of Xstrata Shares needed to satisfy the retention share awards (not exceeding 24,490,347 Xstrata Shares) will be issued to the Xstrata Employee Benefit Trust and will be subject to the terms of the Scheme. In addition, following the Original Prospectus and the First Supplementary Prospectus, certain options pursuant to the Xstrata Share Schemes have lapsed and the number of the Xstrata Shares held by the Xstrata Employee Benefit Trust has changed as a result of options pursuant to the Xstrata Share Schemes being exercised. Accordingly, the number of new Xstrata Shares to be issued to the Xstrata Employee Benefit Trust at the Scheme Record Time in order for it to hold sufficient Xstrata Shares to satisfy all share options outstanding under the Xstrata Shares Schemes and the maximum retention share awards that could be granted under the New Xstrata 2012 Plan has changed.

As a result of the changes described above Glencore may need to issue up to an additional 67,435,110 New Glencore Shares on the Effective Date with an aggregate nominal amount of US$674,351.10 over and above the Merger Allotment Authority Amount. The Directors intend to use the general authority conferred on them at the Company’s AGM and as set out in paragraph 3.5(a) of Part XI (Additional Information) of the Original Prospectus to allot any additional New Glencore Shares over and above the Merger Allotment Authority Amount.

3 Glencore current trading and prospects

On 9 May 2012 Glencore released its interim management statement for the first quarter of 2012. Since this date, concerns in respect of Eurozone sovereign debt have intensified and global economic growth expectations have also decreased. Both factors have led to a deterioration in overall financial market sentiment with a consequential reduction in commodity prices. The S&P GSCI Industrial Metals Index fell 17 per cent. from 470 to 390 based on average commodity prices in the first half of 2011 compared with the same period in 2012 tempering the performance of Glencore’s industrial assets. Glencore’s marketing operations meanwhile continue to perform well with physical demand remaining generally healthy. In addition, Glencore continues to be encouraged by its progress in developing the growth projects within its industrial asset base. Glencore’s growth is brownfield with attendant short lead times and low levels of capital intensity.

Despite the continued global economic uncertainty and the resultant negative sentiment, it remains Glencore’s view that commodity inventories are generally low, both on exchanges and within supply chains. Glencore continues to see strong underlying long-term fundamentals for the major commodities that would be produced and marketed by the Combined Group.

Glencore expects to announce its half-year results (for the 6 months ended 30 June 2012) on 21 August 2012.
