CEO statement of support

A statement of support for the UN Global Compact and its principles

As Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the Group, I am proud to state our continuing support for the United Nations Global Compact's (UNGC) initiative and its principles on human rights, labour, the environment and anti-corruption.

Responsibility is one of Glencore's six values, as well as safety, integrity, openness, simplicity and entrepreneurialism. We take our responsibilities to our people, to society and to the environment very seriously. Our corporate purpose is 'Responsibly sourcing the commodities that advance everyday life' and we are committed to advancing everyday life by supplying the commodities needed to develop, sustain and improve the world around us.

Our approach to sustainability consists of our corporate strategy, our six values, our Code of Conduct, our Group Health, Safety, Environment and Community and Human Rights (HSEC&HR) Framework and Strategy, supported by relevant policies, standards, procedures and guidelines. These align with the UNGC and its principles and apply to our workforce, both our direct employees and our contractors, across all of our assets and offices.

Our Group HSEC&HR team undertakes annual reviews of our Group HSEC&HR Strategy, working with our individual assets and commodity departments' teams. They ensure that it fully aligns with our business requirements and the expectations of our external stakeholders.

Our Group HSEC&HR Strategy considers our aims against four core pillars: health; safety; environment; and community and human rights. The strategy clearly defines imperatives, objectives, priority areas and targets. Our commodity departments and their assets align their annual HSEC&HR plans to this strategy. We believe it is a robust basis for ensuring we maintain an effective and appropriate approach to sustainability.

Our 2020 Communication on Progress covers the period from 01 January to 31 December 2020 and demonstrates our continuing progress on integrating the UNGC and its principles into everything we do. It references our Annual and Sustainability Reports, as well as a number of other publications, including Glencore's policies and our Modern Slavery Statement, which reports on our management of the risks related to modern slavery in our supply chain. All of these publications are available at www.glencore.com, where further information on our approach to sustainability is also available.

This Communication on Progress is available on the UN Global Compact website, as well as our website (Glencore.com).

GLENCORE

The Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact

The UN Global Compact asks companies to operate in a manner that meets fundamental responsibilities for human rights, labour, environment and anti-corruption. Glencore is committed to making a positive contribution to society while creating lasting benefits for stakeholders in a manner that is responsible, transparent and respectful of the rights of all.

We have incorporated the UN Global Compact's Ten Principles into our strategies, policies and procedures.

The UN Global Compact's Ten Principles derive from:

- The Universal Declaration of Human Rights
- The International Labour Organization's Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work
- The Rio Declaration on Environment and Development
- The United Nations Convention Against Corruption.

The UN Global Compact's Ten Principles:

Human Rights

Principle 1: Businesses should support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights; and

Principle 2: make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses.

Labour

Principle 3: Businesses should uphold the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining;

Principle 4: the elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labour;

Principle 5: the effective abolition of child labour; and

Principle 6: the elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation.

Environment

Principle 7: Businesses should support a precautionary approach to environmental challenges;

Principle 8: undertake initiatives to promote greater environmental responsibility; and

Principle 9: encourage the development and diffusion of environmentally friendly technologies.

Anti-Corruption

Principle 10: Businesses should work against corruption in all its forms, including extortion and bribery.

Implementing the Ten Principles

The UN Global Compact asks companies to embrace, support and enact, within their sphere of influence, a set of core values in the areas of human rights, labour standards, the environment, and anti-corruption. These take the form of ten principles.

Principle 1: Businesses should support and respect the protection of internationally proclaimed human rights; and

Principle 2: Make sure that they are not complicit in human rights abuses.

Principle 3: Businesses should uphold the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining;

Principle 4: The elimination of all forms of forced and compulsory labour;

Principle 5: The effective abolition of child labour; and

Principle 6: The elimination of discrimination in respect of employment and occupation.

Principle 7: Businesses should support a precautionary approach to environmental challenges;

Principle 8: Undertake initiatives to promote greater environmental responsibility; and

Principle 9: Encourage the development and diffusion of environmentally friendly technologies.

Principle 10: Businesses should work against corruption in all its forms, including extortion and bribery.

Human rights

The first two UNGC principles relate to human rights.

Glencore prioritises respect for human rights everywhere that we operate. Our assets have many contacts with the communities in which we work. We uphold the human rights of our people and our local communities, including vulnerable groups such as women, children, indigenous people and victims of conflict. We pay particular attention to the handling of human rights in regions where our assets require additional security.

Glencore's Human Rights Policy sets out our approach to this vital topic. The Policy aligns with the Protect, Respect and Remedy framework from the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, and with the ILO's Core Conventions. In addition, our security procedures align with the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights (Voluntary Principles).

Day-to-day responsibility for ensuring that our people comply with the policy lies with our commodity departments and operational managers. Risk assessment is fundamental to our Group approach: we require each asset to conduct a risk assessment for human rights infringements at key phases of its lifecycle. Assessments are adapted for the specific circumstances of each operational region. Our assets must also operate grievance mechanisms that are accessible, accountable and fair, which let our stakeholders raise concerns without fear of recrimination. Assets also conduct regular human rights training for their workforce. This covers general human rights awareness during day-to-day activities for our wider workforce, as well as focused Voluntary Principles training for our security employees and contractors in countries where the risk of security-related human rights abuses is relatively high.

We publish information that specifically addresses these two principles in:

- Code of Conduct
- Glencore Human Rights Policy
- Glencore Social Performance Policy
- Supplier Standards
- Material topics (Human rights, Responsible citizenship) in SR20
- MSS20

Labour standards

The next four principles relate to labour standards.

Our people are our greatest asset. We treat all our people fairly, uphold their rights and reward them competitively, in line with their contribution to our success. We believe that it is vital to our business to attract and retain the best people at every level.

All our operations strive to provide clear, attractive career paths and safe, healthy workplaces without discrimination or harassment. We rigorously enforce our equal opportunity policy at every level of the Group. We uphold the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work.

Within all our assets' workforces, our intention is to reflect the demographics of our host communities; we prohibit discrimination based on race, nationality, religion, gender, age, sexual orientation, disability, ancestry, social origin, political or other opinion, or any other bias. We do not tolerate any form of racial, sexual or workplace harassment.

We prohibit all forms of child, forced and compulsory labour.

We recognise and uphold the rights of our people, whatever their location or role, to a safe workplace, freedom of association, collective representation, just compensation, job security and development opportunities. We are committed to working honestly and openly with labour unions across the Group.

We publish information that specifically addresses these four principles in:

- Code of Conduct
- Glencore Human Rights Policy
- Glencore Diversity and Inclusion Policy
- Glencore Equality of Opportunity Policy
- Supplier Standards
- Our people in AR20
- Material topics (Human rights, Responsible citizenship, Our people) in SR20
- MSS20

Environment

The next three principles relate to the environment.

We work to minimise and mitigate any negative impact from our operations. These may be direct or indirect. We continually work to improve our performance in this regard. Glencore's Environmental Policy (internal document) aligns with international environmental standards, including ISO 14001.

Glencore's Environmental Policy requires our assets to undertake detailed risk assessment reviews, and identify appropriate mitigation action where necessary. Our assets maintain environmental management plans based on these reviews. The plans focus on: maintaining the integrity of our facilities; the efficient use of resources; preserving protected areas and biodiversity; and ensuring closure planning and rehabilitation. Assets update these plans at each stage of their lifecycles, and incorporate them into overall risk registers and management plans.

We disseminate scientific data and promote good biodiversity assessment practice and experiences whenever possible. We support the development and implementation of scientifically sound, inclusive and transparent approaches to integrated land use planning, biodiversity, conservation and mining.

We believe that we can play a constructive role in the development of public policy on climate change and energy. We wish to support constructive and informed public debate and value our engagement with all stakeholders. We actively support the development of low-emission technologies, including high-efficiency low-emission (HELE) coal power generation technologies. We have financially supported development of these technologies, including the Callide Oxyfuel Project in Australia. In addition, our coal business has established a wholly-owned, non-profit subsidiary, Carbon Transport and Storage Company (CTSCo), a leading a carbon capture and storage project. We established the CTSCo project to demonstrate the technical viability, integration and safe operation of CCS in Surat Basin, Australia.

We publish information that specifically addresses these three principles in:

- Code of Conduct
- Glencore Environmental Policy
- Climate Change Report 2020
- Climate change in AR20
- Material topics (Catastrophic hazard management, Climate change and energy, Water, Land stewardship) in SR20

Anti-corruption

The final principle relates to corruption.

Our primary objective is to ensure that we maintain a culture of ethical behaviour and compliance throughout the Group, rather than achieving the minimum required by law. Our Global Anti-Corruption Policy includes our clear position on bribery and corruption, which is that offering, paying, authorising, soliciting or accepting bribes is unacceptable.

We will not knowingly assist any third party in breaching the law, or participate in any criminal, fraudulent or corrupt practice in any country. We seek to prevent such misconduct through training programmes and strong leadership, underpinned by internal policies, procedures and controls.

If one of our people encounters a situation in which our policies appear breached, the individual must raise this promptly with a supervisor or manager, local compliance co-ordinator, or a member of the Business Ethics Committee.

We publish information that specifically addresses this principle in:

- Code of Conduct
- Glencore Global Anti-Corruption Policy
- Glencore Political Engagement Policy
- Ethics and compliance in AR20
